Panel: International Law Practice
220 Hutchins Hall

Many of our American law students are interested in international law practice and in opportunities for American attorneys to practice law overseas. This panel provides them with a chance to meet our international alumni and to learn more about how to achieve these goals. Four distinguished panelists will lead the discussion. They are: William J. Davey, Michigan J.D. 1974, Professor, University of Illinois College of Law, previously with Cleary, Gottlieb, Steen & Hamilton in New York and Brussels; Katherine Ward, Michigan J.D. 1977, Pepper, Hamilton & Sheetz, London; David Westin, Michigan J.D. 1977, Vice-President and General Counsel, Capital Cities/ABC, Inc., New York and Washington, D.C., previously with Wilmer, Cutler & Pickering, Washington, D.C. and London; and Nobutoshi Yamanouchi, Michigan LL.M. 1975, Showa Law Office, Tokyo. We hope that other alumni will attend this panel to meet our students and offer welcome advice and information on the international practice of law.

Moderator: Virginia Gordan, Assistant Dean of Students.

10:00 - 11:00 a.m.

Tour of Law Library

The tour will meet at the circulation desk in the Law Library Reading Room.

Learn about the award-winning architecture of the Smith Addition, the riches of the collection – especially documents of international organizations – and the latest developments in computer-assisted research. The tour will leave at five minutes after the appointed hour, and take approximately 45 minutes.

10:00 - 11:00 a.m.

Campus Bus Tour

The bus will load at the Monroe Street entrance of Hutchins Hall.

Members of the University of Michigan Student Alumni Council will lead a bus tour of the University. The hour-long tour will include the athletic facilities, central campus, medical complex and North Campus (the home across the river for the Art, Engineering, and Music Schools). The bus will return to the Monroe Street entrance of Hutchins Hall after the tour.

11:00 a.m. - Noon

Friday, September 20, 1991 (cont'd.)

11:00 a.m. - Noon

Campus Bus Tour

The bus will load at the Monroe Street entrance of Hutchins Hall.

Members of the University of Michigan Student Alumni Council will lead a bus tour of the University. The hour-long tour will include the athletic facilities, central campus, medical complex and North Campus (the home across the river for the Art, Engineering, and Music Schools). The bus will return to the Monroe Street entrance of Hutchins Hall after the tour.

12:15 - 1:30 p.m.

Lunch

Lawyers Club Dining Room

An informal lunch will be served in the Lawyers Club Dining Room which we hope will revive fond memories of student life. Please feel free to join one of our national tables denoted by an American flag and the flag of another country, or one of our international tables denoted by a United Nations flag.

2:00 - 4:00 p.m.

Workshops

Please note some workshops are one hour long (2:00 - 2:55 p.m. and 3:05 - 4:00 p.m.), and others are two hours in length with a break in the middle. Please feel free to attend different workshops during the afternoon. We have several different workshops meeting at once so that we can offer a broad range of topics and so that the workshops are small enough to permit an effective exchange of views.

2:00 - 4:00 p.m.

Topic: The European Community

250 Hutchins Hall

Moderated by Professors Jim Adams, Alfred Conard, Eric Stein and Joseph Weiler, this two-hour workshop will treat recent developments in the intergovernmental conference and proposed changes to the Community's institutional and constitutional architecture. The second hour will focus on issues of trading in and with Europe.

Moderators: Professor Adams is on the faculty of the Department of Economics at the University of Michigan. He has taught at the Law School for many years, most recently a class called "Government and Business in Western Europe." He has specialized in the study of the French economy and is currently directing a project at the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations on Europe after 1992. Professor Conard was for many years the Chief Editor of the Business Organization volume of the International Encyclopedia of Comparative Law. He is writing currently on corporate governance in the United States and Europe, including the question of whether employees should rank equally with shareholders as beneficiaries of company policies. Professor Stein has a worldwide reputation as an international scholar and a pioneer in the study of European Community law, about which he has written extensively and taught all over the world. Most recently, he has been an active member of an international group consulting with the Czech and Slovak authorities on the new Federal Constitution. In 1990, he delivered lectures on the external relations of the European Community at the inaugural session of the Academy of European Law in Florence, and he holds the Jean Monnet chair at the European University Institute for the fall of 1991. Professor Weiler is one of the general editors of, and contributors to, the multi-volume comparative law project, Integration Through Law: Europe and the American Federal Experience, and has recently co-edited 1992 - A Single European Market (Nomos). He is a consultant to the European Parliament and a founding editor of the European Journal of International Law, and he has written numerous books and articles on European Community law, international law and comparative law.

2:00 - 4:00 p.m.

Topic: Learning Negotiation

120 Hutchins Hall

Workshop participants will divide into small groups to negotiate a contract dispute. The negotiation process will be discussed during the second half of the workshop. Professor James J. White plans to videotape a negotiation between several volunteer alumni before the workshop; the videotape will be shown and discussed during the workshop.

Moderator: Professor White's academic focus is on commercial law, bankruptcy and negotiation. He has written on many aspects of commercial law and has published a leading text, Handbook of the Law Under the Uniform Commercial Code.

2:00 - 2:55 p.m.

Topic: The Disinterested Person: A New Alternative to Shareholder Derivative Litigation

236 Hutchins Hall

In 1989 Michigan adopted a statute that creates a new mechanism, the disinterested person, for resolving shareholder derivative litigation. This workshop explores whether it is preferable to litigation and the special litigation committee, an existing extrajudicial dispute resolution mechanism.

Friday, September 20, 1991 (cont'd.)

Moderator: Professor Joel Seligman is the author of The SEC and the Future of Finance and The Transformation of Wall Street: A History of the SEC and Modern Corporate Finance. He currently is co-authoring a multi-volume treatise on securities.

2:00 - 2:55 p.m.

Topic: The International Harmonization of Antitrust

118 Hutchins Hall

As competition policy has become a more universal phenomenon, standards governing business practices relating to competition have also been undergoing significant changes. Will we move in a single direction, or will disparities grow even greater?

Moderator: Professor Thomas E. Kauper is an expert in the field of antitrust law, which he teaches as both an introductory and advanced class. He has served as Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice, as well as Vice-Chair of the Antitrust Section of the American Bar Association.

3:05 - 4:00 p.m.

Topic: Recent Developments in the Market for Corporate Control

236 Hutchins Hall

The workshop will focus on two related subjects: (1) the demise of hostile takeovers and leveraged buyouts; and (2) the emergence of proxy contests and voluntary bankruptcies. Professor Michael Bradley will discuss how recent legislative and judicial developments have led to the virtual extinction of the hostile takeover. He also will discuss how these factors, together with the collapse of the junk bond market, have all but eliminated the leveraged buyouts of American corporations. Further, he will comment on how the demise of the hostile takeover has led to a vacuum in corporate governance, how and why the proxy contest has emerged to fill this void, and how the proliferation of leveraged transactions in the '80s has led to the recent increase in the number of firms seeking court protection from creditors via Chapter 11 filings.

Moderator: Professor Bradley has a joint appointment with the University of Michigan School of Business Administration and the Law School. His research interests focus on corporate finance, the market for corporate control, and the theory of the firm.

3:05 - 4:00 p.m.

Topic: The Rise of Markets in Environmental Regulation

116 Hutchins Hall

This workshop focuses on the general theory behind the idea of market-based approaches to environmental control, touching on the basics, general issues and problems, and some advantages and disadvantages to the idea.

Moderator: Professor James E. Krier's research and teaching interests are chiefly in the fields of environmental law and property. He is the co-author of Pollution and Policy and Environmental Law and Policy and has recently taught two seminars on "Garbage" and "Readings on Risk."

5:00 - 6:00 p.m.

Reception for International Alumni and Committee of Visitors

The Concourse, Second Floor, Michigan League, corner of North University and Fletcher Streets

6:15 - 7:15 p.m.

Concert: Bolcom and Morris
An Evening of Classic American Popular Song

Lydia Mendelssohn Theatre, Michigan League, corner of North University and Fletcher Streets

Please join us for a special performance for the international reunion by two world-traveling performers for whom Ann Arbor and the University's School of Music happily provide home base. The husband-and-wife team of Bolcom and Morris has delighted audiences from New York's Carnegie Hall and Lincoln Center to Aspen, Colorado's famed music center. The team pairs two musicians each of whom has achieved individual distinction. Mezzo-soprano Joan Morris is a widely recorded and acclaimed exponent of the American popular song. In her treatment of lyrics one hears her early training as an actress. William Bolcom, here serving mainly as accompanist to Ms. Morris, is one of this country's most imaginative and versatile composers. In 1988 he received a Pulitzer Prize for his "Twelve Etudes for Piano." Tonight they blend their considerable talents to offer songs of George Gershwin, Richard Rodgers, Cole Porter, and others, in an hour of undemanding sparkle and delight. After the concert, we hope you will enjoy dinner out in Ann Arbor with friends.

Saturday, September 21, 1991

9:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Registration and Information Center
Table outside the Jason L. Honigman Auditorium (Room 100 Hutchins Hall)

9:00 - 9:30 a.m.

Coffee and donuts
Table outside the Jason L. Honigman Auditorium (Room 100 Hutchins Hall)

9:00 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.

Excursion: Toledo Museum of Art
$40 per person

Transportation, admission fees and lunch included.

The bus will load at the the Regency Campus Inn, 615 East Huron Street.

If you did not preregister for this excursion, a limited number of tickets are for sale at the Registration and Information Center.

This trip has been organized by Ginny Stein, a former professor of art history at Eastern Michigan University who has had a longtime involvement with the Law School. The visit to the museum will begin with docent led tours of the museum's superb collection. Lunch will follow in the museum cafe where deputy director Dr. Roger Berkowitz will briefly talk about the museum. The bus will return you to Hutchins Hall or your hotel, as you prefer.

9:30 - 11:45 a.m.

Workshops

Please note some workshops are one hour long (9:30 - 10:30 a.m. and 10:45 - 11:45 a.m.), and others are two hours in length with a 15-minute break in the middle. Please feel free to attend different workshops during the morning.

9:30 - 11:45 a.m.

Topic: Trends in International Economic Law and the GATT After the Uruguay Round

116 Hutchins Hall

A panel of three or four experts will discuss current trends in the law of international economic relations. Panel members will express their views, followed by general discussion in the second half. Topics include: the structure of GATT and a potential international trade organization for the 1990s and beyond; the post-Uruguay Round issues (such as competition policy and environmental policy); the question of regional developments (EC, North American FTA, etc.) on the one hand, and the GATT, or an MTO, on the other; the impact of developments in Central and Eastern Europe on the world trading system; and, China and world trade.

Moderator: Professor John H. Jackson teaches courses and seminars on international trade and international law. He served as general counsel to the U.S. Office of the Special Trade Representative in 1973-74. He has written widely on GATT and has authored most recently a number of books on international trade law, including Antidumping Law and Practice: A Comparative Study (with Edwin Vermulst, 1989), The World Trading System (1989) and Restructuring the GATT (1990).

9:30 - 11:45 a.m.

Topic: Constitutional Law: Race, Gender and Speech

250 Hutchins Hall

During the first hour, the panel will discuss American constitutional law and the changing (or changed) Supreme Court: What impact will recent changes in membership have on theories of judicial review and on constitutional doctrine? Particular attention will be paid to race and gender discrimination and free speech. The second hour will focus on a set of specific problems raised by recent events involving racial and sexual harassment on American campuses. The federal court case invalidating the University of Michigan's anti-discrimination policy will be reviewed.

Moderators: Lee C. Bollinger, Dean of the University of Michigan Law School, is a nationally recognized expert on the First Amendment, with two recent books in the field, The Tolerant Society and Images of a Free Press. Joining him in this workshop are Professor Alexander Aleinikoff who joined the faculty in 1981 and has made his specialties immigration law and race discrimination, and Professor Christina Whitman, a constitutional law expert and a faculty member since 1976.

9:30 - 10:30 a.m.

Topic: White Collar Crime

236 Hutchins Hall

This workshop focuses on white collar crime prosecuted by the federal government. It will be devoted to the federal investigative procedure with primary attention given to the investigative grand jury.

Moderator: Professor Jerold H. Israel teaches criminal law, criminal procedure and white collar crime. He has been active in the field of criminal law reform, including service on governmental commissions concerned with criminal justice procedures, and he has written extensively in the field of criminal procedure.

Saturday, September 21, 1991 (cont'd.)

9:30 - 10:30 a.m.

Topic: International Finance

132 Hutchins Hall

This workshop explores how the rise of transnational securities transactions is challenging domestic systems of regulation. The initial focus is on which transactions should be subject to the U.S. strictures against insider trading. The discussion will then move to the larger question of how municipal authorities generally should apply their various kinds of securities regulations in today's globalizing market.

Moderator: Professor Merritt Fox joined the Michigan faculty in 1988. His academic interests are in the fields of corporate and securities law, law and economics, and international law.

10:45 - 11:45 a.m.

Topic: International Protection of Human Rights

132 Hutchins Hall

The international community can by now look back at almost four decades of involvement with human rights. However glaring the actual shortcomings remain in many parts of the world, international law and State sovereignty will never be the same again. International concern with human rights, be it on a political level or in the form of a wide variety of international supervisory mechanisms, is continually reducing formerly unfettered domestic jurisdiction. More and more, this concern is turning international law from a cold, uncommitted, State-centered minimum order into a genuine law of human welfare. The workshop will try both to trace and to evaluate this development.

Moderator: Professor Bruno Simma holds a joint appointment at this Law School and the University of Munich. He has written extensively in the fields of international law and international protection of human rights and is a founding editor of the European Journal of International Law. He is an advisor to the German Ministry of Foreign Affairs, a member of the U.N. Commission on Cultural, Economic and Social Rights, and general editor of a commentary on the U.N. Charter.

10:45 - 11:45 a.m.

Topic: Patent Priority: First-to-File vs. First-to-Invent

236 Hutchins Hall

A major stumbling block in recent efforts to achieve international harmonization of patent laws has been U.S. insistence on maintaining a first-to-invent system for determining patent priority while other countries award priority on a first-to-file basis. This workshop will examine the respective merits of first-to-invent and first-to-file systems with special attention to the experience of the United States, concluding that a shift to a first-to-file system would not represent a dramatic change in U.S. practice.

Moderators: Professor Rebecca Eisenberg joined the Michigan law faculty in 1984 after practicing in San Francisco. Her research interests are primarily in the area of intellectual property and the regulation of scientific research. She will be joined by Professor Martin Adelman, who teaches patent law and antitrust law at Wayne State University Law School.

10:45 - 11:45 a.m.

Topic: Resolution of International Commercial Disputes

120 Hutchins Hall

This workshop examines recent developments in arbitration law and arbitration centers, and discusses alternatives to litigation and arbitration. These include mediation and international versions of the mini-trial which has been used successfully recently in the United States. Participants will be encouraged to share their experiences.

Moderator: Professor Whitmore Gray specializes in contract law, commercial arbitration, alternative dispute resolution and comparative law. He has taught and lectured in many parts of the world: in 1985 at Jilin University in China and in 1987 at Tokyo University. He spoke at the opening of the Hong Kong arbitration center and was just appointed by the Minister of Justice of Thailand to be the foreign advisor for their new arbitration center in Bangkok.

Noon

Lunch

On your own

or at Dominick's, 812 Monroe Street

Although many alumni will choose to have lunch on their own and with friends, we have arranged an informal pizza lunch at Dominick's (across from the Law School on Monroe Street) for those who would like to join a group of J.D. and LL.M. students to chat about student life. The students who will join you have expressed interest in international law and international practice and look forward to meeting our alumni from abroad. To assist us in planning, please sign up in advance at the Registration and Information Center. However, if you are unable to sign up in advance, please feel free to go directly to Dominick's, where we will be happy to accommodate you if space is available.

Saturday, September 21, 1991 (cont'd.)

2:30 - 3:30 p.m.

Topic: What is the Rehnquist Court Doing to our Liberties?

Jason L. Honigman Auditorium (Room 100 Hutchins Hall)

This talk will address one of the most critical questions that can be asked about the Fourth Amendment, the constitutional guarantee against "unreasonable searches and seizures": what is a "search" or "seizure"? Unless police-citizen contacts or encounters constitute "searches" or "seizures," they need not be "reasonable"—indeed, they need not satisfy the Fourth Amendment at all. When police board a Greyhound bus at a scheduled stop, announce their purpose (interdict drug traffickers), randomly approach a passenger, and ask him to produce his bus ticket and driver's license, has an illegal "seizure" occurred? Professor Yale Kamisar will speak first, and Professor Douglas Kahn will respond to his remarks.

Speakers: Professor Kamisar has written extensively on criminal law, the administration of criminal justice, and "the 'politics' of crime." He is the author of Police Interrogation and Confessions: Essays in Law and Policy. He co-authored with Jerold Israel and Wayne LaFare seven editions of Modern Criminal Procedure, the dominant casebook in its field. Professor Kahn joined the Michigan law faculty in 1964. His teaching and research focus is in the field of tax law. He is co-author of two casebooks, one on corporate taxation and one on taxation of transfer of wealth.

4:00 - 5:00 p.m.

Tour of Law Library

The tour will meet at the circulation desk in the Law Library Reading Room.

Learn about the award-winning architecture of the Smith Addition, the riches of the collection—especially documents of international organizations—and the latest developments in computer-assisted research. The tour will leave at five minutes after the appointed hour, and take approximately 45 minutes.

4:00 - 5:00 p.m.

Campus Bus Tour

The bus will load at the Monroe Street entrance of Hutchins Hall.

Members of the University of Michigan Student Alumni Council will lead a bus tour of the University. The hour-long tour will include the athletic facilities, central campus, medical complex and North Campus (the home across the river for the Art, Engineering, and Music Schools). The bus will return to the Monroe Street entrance of Hutchins Hall after the tour.

7:00 - 8:00 p.m.

Hors d'Oeuvres

Law Quadrangle

8:00 - 11:30 p.m.

Banquet and Dancing

Law Quadrangle and Lawyers Club

This festive banquet celebrates the Ann Arbor reunion of our international alumni, the Committee of Visitors and Law School faculty, staff and friends. Dinner will be served under a tent in the Law Quadrangle, with dessert and coffee to follow in the Lawyers Club Lounge and the Lawyers Club Dining Room. There will also be dancing under the tent to a jazz quartet made up of faculty from the University of Michigan School of Music.

11:30 p.m. - 12:15 a.m.

Concert

Law Library Reading Room

Dvorak's Piano Quintet has been called one of just three notable works in this form of chamber music, and of these his is cited as displaying the consummate union of piano and string quartet. This music will be performed by distinguished members of the University's music faculty in the glorious setting of our library's Reading Room to conclude the festivities of a memorable Saturday night.

Sunday, September 22, 1991

Sunday, September 22, 1991 (cont'd.)

12:30 -5:00 p.m.

Excursion: Tour of Detroit

$25 per person

Transportation and admission fees included.

If you did not preregister for this excursion, a limited number of tickets are for sale at the Registration and Information Center.

This tour begins with a visit to the Detroit Institute of Arts. The museum is regarded as having one of the broadest collections of American art in the country. Next stop is the city's riverfront area and the Renaissance Center, where you will ride the glass elevator and enjoy a spectacular view. The tour concludes with a ride on the People Mover, which circles the downtown area of Detroit. The bus will return you to your hotel.

12:30 - 5:00 p.m.

Excursion: Henry Ford Museum or Greenfield Village

$25 per person

Transportation and admission fees included.

If you did not preregister for this excursion, a limited number of tickets are for sale at the Registration and Information Center.

Collections at the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village tell the stories of people and ideas that have changed and shaped the United States. On this trip you may choose to enjoy the afternoon either indoors in the museum or outdoors in the village. In the museum you can follow developments in transportation, communications, agriculture, industry, leisure, entertainment and domestic life. The newest exhibition, "The Automobile in American Life," features a 1946 diner, a Holiday Inn guest room from the 1960s, and a 1950s drive-in theater. At Greenfield Village you can see the Wright Brothers' Cycle Shop, Thomas Edison's Menlo Park laboratory, and the birthplaces of Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone. Experience 1850s-style hospitality at Eagle Tavern. Along the way are demonstrations of early trades such as weaving, glass blowing, printing and pottery. The bus will return you to your hotel.
